

DATE: Tuesday, January 30, 2018
TO: Whom It May Concern
RE: Portland Adventist Academy Accreditation
1500 SE 96th Avenue, Portland, OR 97216-2535

I write to affirm the accreditation status of Portland Adventist Academy. The 9-12 secondary school at the above address is owned and operated by the Oregon Conference of Seventh-day Adventists for the purpose of providing a quality high school program, a Christ-centered, character-driven education.

As a Northwest Regional officer for education, I attest that Portland Adventist Academy is a college preparatory program currently enrolling about 265 student and has annual evaluative review lead by our office on behalf of the following three accreditation entities. A full on-site evaluation occurs every six years. The last full evaluation took place in 2016. The next full visit will take place in 2022. There were no sanctions or issues with the school.

Adventist Accrediting Association (Silver Spring, MD)

- World-wide denominational, faith-based accrediting agency

National Council for Private School Accreditation (Seattle, WA)

- National affiliation of various private school associations and accrediting agencies

Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools (Philadelphia, PA)

- a regional accrediting association for public/private schools

Dennis L. Plubell
Vice President for Education
Dennis.plubell@nw.npuc.org